FIGHT ON CRIME IN TEXAS NOW A SCIENTIFIC DEVELOPMENT

"Our Town"

by J. B. WHITE

(This from the Wall Street Journal:)

National Debt 1931 Hope vs. 1939 Reality.

Glancing backward through the files of the American Banker a headline caught our attention. It was "Ogden Mills Predicts Liquidation of Entire U. S. Debt by 1940." That was printed on Jan. 22, 1931, and it reflected reasoning based upon the fact that the Federal debt had been reduced $16,000,000,000.

Yet even as the Undersecretary of the Treasury uttered this idea in 1931, the Federal Government was about to enter the most stupendous and increasing series of deficits in our national history. Inability of the United States to make ends meet and pay its way began in that year. We have added $24,000,000,000 since to our national debt, and by the end of the next fiscal year, we are resigned to adding about $4,000,000,000 more, so that instead of $26,000,000,000 of war indebtedness to be liquidated by 1949, we shall have $44,000,000,000 of total debt by 1941, with no end of deficits really in sight.

Of the $24,000,000,000 increase in national indebtedness, the Federal Reserve Banks have loaned $2,500,000,000 and the nation's banking system has supplied $11,500,000,000. Beneficiaries of Federal trust funds have contributed out of their incomes in the name of old age pensions and the like about $4,000,000,000. The thrifty who have entrusted their savings to the Postal Savings trustees have financed nearly $1,000,000,000 and those who have bought "baby bonds" more than $1,500,000,000. The life insurance companies in their function of investing funds held in trust by them for their policyholders

The Texas Public Safety Commission, how it works and its accomplishments, formed the background of an interesting address delivered here Wednesday before the Cameron Rotary Club by Colonel Homer Garrison, head of the department.

Mr. Garrison said that crime costs the people of the United States about fifteen billion dollars each year and is perhaps the largest expenditure involving any single problem of American life. How the department at Austin is combating crime by scientific methods and by teaching men to become better officers by reason of modern education is one of the most amazing developments in recent Texas history. Colonel Garrison, a native East Texas boy who became an officer at the age of 22 years and now is at the head of the nations number two state police force, told a story of breathless interest as he developed the sacrifices made by men who have given their lives in the cause of public safety and how that Texas since it has modernized its fight on crime has risen to become one among the leading states of the world in this record.

Colonel Garrison was introduced by John Copley in charge of the program for the day and at the luncheon tables were 42 men and women to hear the speaker discuss this interesting department of the state government. More than 25 peace officers of Milam county were guests of the Rotary Club for the day.

Colonel Garrison was applauded several times during his address, the audience breaking into enthusiastic handclapping as he told his hearers that Texas Rangers, oldest peace officer organization in the United States, has been preserved and perpetuated under the modern set-up of the Public Safety Commission. For the first time in the history of the state, equipment is being purchased for these colorful men who for more than a century have been the terror of the bad man in the Southwest. The Rangers still retain their identity and although modern conditions have changed the tactics for combating crime, they still ride horses in many of the remote sections of Texas

MRS. ETHEL COFFIELD BURIED IN WACO

Mrs. Ethel Coffield, widow of the late Henry Coffield who died in 1926, was found dead in her home in Waco on Tuesday morning. She had been ill for some time with heart attacks and had been under treatment during the past few days and expired some time during the night of Monday.

Mrs. Coffield was the former Miss Ethel Lankford of Cameron and was married here to Mr. Coffield many years ago.

Mr. Coffield for many years lived in Rockdale and was a brother of Ernest H. Coffield of Cameron and H. H. Coffield of Rockdale. The Coffield family are pioneers in Milam county. Ernest Coffield left Cameron Wednesday at 12:30 from a meeting of the Rotary club, to be at the funeral of his sister in law which was to be held at 2:30 p. m. in Waco. He was accompanied by Mrs. Coffield.

Deceased was reared in Cameron, her father being a prominent business man of this city in the early days. She is survived by one brother, M. A. Lankford of Dallas and one sister, Mrs. J. M. McBride of Atoka, Okla. Other relatives of Mrs. Coffield in Cameron are Mrs. C. P. McGregor and Mrs Homer McLane.

Petitions Ask for Support of Bill To Underwrite Bonds

Milam county representatives in the Legislature will be asked to vote for a bill introduced in the House providing for appropriation of one cent of the gasoline tax to retire road district bonds.

Petitions are being circulated over this country, it was announced by Judge Jeff T. Kemp who accompanied commissioners to Austin last week to urge adoption of the bill. This legislation is sponsored by county Judges and commissioners throughout Texas. If the state retires road bond indebtedness out of the gasoline tax the district will be relieved of a large tax burden and will thus be able to provide for needed improvements.

Rules of Conduct for Jurors are Outlined by Judge; Clerk Says Verdicts Often Nullified by Oversight of Law Provisions

January 31, 1939.

Editor Cameron Herald
Cameron, Texas.
Dear Sir:

It frequently happens that a verdict of a jury is set aside by the higher Courts because of some failure of the jury to observe all the technical rules governing the conduct of juries.

In order that public generally and jurors in particular may understand just what these rules are I am sending you for publication a set of rules given by our District Judge to the Sheriff and his deputies regarding their handling of juries under their charge.

Sometimes jurors wonder why the officers in charge of them are so strict.

The enclosed rules will explain this and show how necessary it is for jurors to observe these rules so that their verdicts may stand.

With best wishes, I am

Yours very respectfully,
PENN WOLF,
Clerk District Court Milam County, Texas.

INSTRUCTIONS TO OFFICERS IN CHARGE OF JURIES:

The law regarding handling of juries is very strict and a deviation from the following rules might result in a reversal of the verdict of a jury.

You will therefore carefully observe all of said rules:

1. Do not let jurors talk to anyone not on jury without permission of the judge and then it must be in the presence of the judge or in the presence of an officer designated by him. The conversation must not be about the case.
2. Do not let jurors separate.
3. Do not let others not on jury mingle with jurors.
4. Do not let jurors talk over telephone.
5. Do not take jurors past or near the scene of any crime or transaction on which they are sitting as a jury.
6. Do not take jury to picture show.
7. Do not let jurors have books or newspapers or magazines.
8. Do not allow jurors to have any kind of intoxicating liquors.
9. You must not discuss the evidence in the case with any juror. If you should be asked a question about any evidence or any witness do not answer the question but state that you are not allowed to discuss the case.
10. When you take a jury to meals be sure that the jurors are separated from others not on the jury and that no talk is carried on with anyone not on the jury.
11. Do not allow janitors or other court house employees to mingle with or talk to jurors.

GRAHAM GILLIS,
District Judge, Milam County, Texas.

Mrs. McQuary Asks Revision on Story She Withdrew Dry Petition Here

The following statement written by Mrs. J. R. McQuary, author of a prohibition election petition was received Tuesday. She has asked the Herald to print her version of the proceedings before the Commissioners' Court:

"Corrects Mistake About Dry Petition Being Withdrawn.

"Mrs. J. R. McQuary did not walk to the table and pick up a petition until the court ruled that she could withdraw the filing of it. Not until it was voted on did she pick up her petition.

"Our District Attorney said it was lawful for her to withdraw the filing of it. She thought it would be best to have it canvassed just before the election is ordered. If the court is kind enough to order the election it will be the first Saturday in April, day of trustee election. After the court had adjourned, one of the Commissioners said to the others: "It is the law that we order the election if the petition is correct." "We granted the anti election three years ago and you know how I voted in October to have this one on the main ticket." The Chairman said: "I am ready to vote off the tie." The other three Commissioners said they did not care to express now how they would vote. "Let every Christian pray that the election be ordered on April 1 and that we will win for prohibtion and that the anti crowd will thank us for it some day. Anyone doubting the above statement I refer you to the court."

Mrs. J. R. McQuary,
Buckholts, Texas, Rt. 1.

Filling Station at Minerva Burglarized

Robbery of a filling station was reported from Minerva on Tuesday morning, it was said here Tuesday by Sheriff Kennedy who could not remember the name of the station into which burglars entered, blasted open a safe and escaped with $32.62 in cash. Sheriff Kennedy said a sledge hammer was used to break open the safe. No arrests have been made and the sheriff said no clues were left on which he could proceed with the investigation.

Gets Two Years

Lucio Casarez was convited on a charge of possessing marijuana by a jury in district court Monday. The defendant accepted the sentence of two years and did not give notice of appeal. He was defended by Ed Gunn, attorney of Rockdale.

The case against Casarez was one among a number of charges growing out of indictments in this county. Marijuana said by narcotic experts to be the most devastating drug yet known was found growing on a farm occupied by the Mexicans near Rockdale.

City Poll Taxes

W. H. Stafford, city tax collector, reported approximately 900 poll taxes were paid in the city of Cameron up to midnight Monday. This figure compared to 1937 poll tax payments shows an increase of approximately 200 over the last figure. Poll tax payments are heavy on election years and in 1938 there were 986 poll taxes paid in the city.

City Plans Way to Close Water Deal

The City of Cameron has under advisement a plan by legal methods to enforce a provision of the franchise held by the water company which gives the city an option to own these utilities.

On last Wednesday night at a meeting of the Council a representative of a bond buying company and an attorney from Dallas met with the Council and the matter was discussed. The next step for the city, will be to enter suit for possession of the property at a figure established recently by appraisers in excess of $171,000. The water company has been offered this amount but has declined to sell for that figure.

If the city makes additional efforts to obtain the properties of the Community Public Service Company, litigation in the courts will be necessary as the company is unwilling to sell its properties in Cameron.

No statement could be obtained from any member of the City Council for the Herald. The city is without an attorney. It was understood that no definite conclusion had been reached in the matter and that the meeting held here on Wednesday night was called for the purpose of discussing the feasibility of further progress in the matter.

LIONS PRAISED FOR WORK HERE

One hundred and ten dollars was realized from the Lion's Club Movie for the benefit of underprivileged children who need eye glasses, eye treatment and other attention that will mean well bodies and happier personalities it was stated today by Cliff Wiese, president of the club.

The home town movie was attended by 2000 people who pronounced it a splendid attraction. The film remains the property of the Cameron club.

The home movie was one of the most successful undertakings the local Lions Club has had in recent months. The humanitarian cause had a wide appeal and many favorable comments have come to local Lions on their efforts.

The furnishing of eye glasses to needy children unable to buy them is one of the major projects of the Lion's Club Total Youth program for Cameron. The Lions are grateful to the public for the generous response given to the cause.

Roosevelt Birthday Ball Celebrant Dies

William Pagach, 25 year old Burlington farm youth, collapsed and died on the floor of a Roosevelt birthday ball room in Burlington at 10 o'clock Monday night as he danced with a companion, Miss Carter of Rosebud.

An inquest held by B. G. Rice, justice of the peace of Precinct 7, disclosed that the young man died from a heart attack. Members of his family said that he had suffered several attacks but had not consulted a physician. Pogach fell to the floor of the ball room and was carried outside by friends who thought he had fainted. He died as they emerged from the hall. Frank Gleason and Henry Kuhn picked Pogach up from the floor and carried him out of the dance hall.

The death of young Pogach served to mar the pleasure of many who were celebrating the 57th birthday of the president of the United States to raise funds for the Warm Springs Foundation.

Deceased is survived by his family of several brothers and other relatives.

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock from St. Michael's Church in Burlington with Father T. F. O'Sullivan officiating. Young Pogach was a member of St. Michael's Church. Burial was made in Burlington cemetery.

Program For WEDNESDAY

Address by
COL. HOMER GARRISON
State Director of Public Safety

"FELLOWSHIP"

Let us all take upon ourselves the responsibility of inviting to meetings, as guests of the club, business and professional men who have just moved to town, so that they may be introduced to the membership and made to feel more at home in the community. The editor belives that this thoughtful and courteous attention to the new comers will give Rotary a good standing as a leading organization within the community.

"COINCIDENTS"

Australians drive Cleveland-made motor Trucks. China uses blast furance equipment from Cleveland. The mines of South Africa, the Andes, Bolivia and Chile use wire screens from Cleveland. Cleveland sends letter duplicating equipment to England, paint to Italy, screw machines to Japan, coal to Canada, tractors to Fiji Islands, etc. But, Rotarians of the world will reverse the procedure somewhat for they'll send to Cleveland their delegates to the Convention, in June.

John Copley a faithful member of the program committee, pulled his usual 'Bone-Head" last week when he called off the program. But we excuse him this time since he had a fairly good alibi, at least he thinks so. Some of the members phoned him Wednesday, and stated they could not be at the Luncheon, so John, fearing that there would not be enough attendance to hear a wonderful speaker, postponed this speaking engagement until February 8th, wanting to have a good attendance to hear Hon. Jack Lewis' address. We will have to take our hats off for John, he is doing a good job.

Not having an outlined program last Wednesday, we had a very successful meeting after luncheon, in which some very interesting ideas were discussed by the members. At this meeting a motion was brought before the meeting which was approved, that all members notify the Secretary each Wednesday morning by ten o'clock if they cannot be present at the regular meetings at twelve o'clock, those failing to do so before ten o'clock be penalized the price of a meal (50c) payable at the next meeting. This resolution to go in effect at next meeting, so Rotarians don't forget to notify the Secretary by ten o'clock if you can not be present.

Acting President J. B. White appointed the following on the Publicity Committee, John C. Andres, John Copley, P. W. Davis, B. F. Bonds and Albert Collins.

No doubt many Rotarians pass through Cameron each week and do not know there is a club in town. Road signs would extend our welcome to them and advertise to the world Cameron is a Rotary Club town.

Donald Weir a very active member was sick last week and was absent, but he is recovering fast and will be with us Wednesday, we hope.

We regret very much that the following members were not present last Wednesday: Dr. C. G. Swift, Stanley Swift, Dr. E. R. Zellner, Donald Weir, Lester Glass, B. F. Bonds, John Copley and Melvin Ford.

Our program for this coming Wednesday will be one of our best. A Big man with a Big Job will address us, Col. Homer Garrison, Director of Public Safety, Austin, Texas, under whose jurisdiction come not only public safety, but the Bureau of Identification, and the bureau of Narcotics division. President J. B. White introduced the idea of each member bringing a peace officer along as a guest for this meeting, to which all members pledged their support in bringing along some peace officer for this meeting. Let's get "Saftey Minded" this week, and do our part toward protecting the lives of our citizens. We will have it brought home to us just what it means to be safe by the director of Public Safety of the Biggest State in the United States.

Our Sweetheart Miss Ida Byrd Mayfield is unable to attend the weekly luncheon because she is teaching school at Minerva and cannot leave her class rooms. This circumstance is regreted by every member of the Club. During the school term the Club will have a Guest Sweetheart to insure music and singing directed by P. W. Davis. During the summer Miss Mayfield will be with the Club each Wednesday.

1938 National Race Champion
Champion race drivers, whose very lives and chances of victory depend on tire safety, know tire construction and that is why they select and buy Firestone Tires for their racing cars.

FIRESTONE triumphs again! This time with the new Firestone Champion, the tire that sets the safety standards for 1939. This new tire provides a combination of safety features never before built into a tire. It is a completely new achievement in safety engineering.

new achievement in safety engineering.

From the experience gained on the speedways of the world and in the Firestone laboratories, Firestone engineers have developed a revolutionary new type of cord body called Safety-Lock, which provides amazingly greater strength. This outstanding achievement makes possible the use of a thicker, tougher, deeper tread which assures much greater non-skid mileage. Because of this new Safety-Lock Cord body and Gear-Grip tread, the modern streamlined Firestone Champion Tire establishes completely new standards of blowout protection, non-skid safety, silent operation and long mileage.

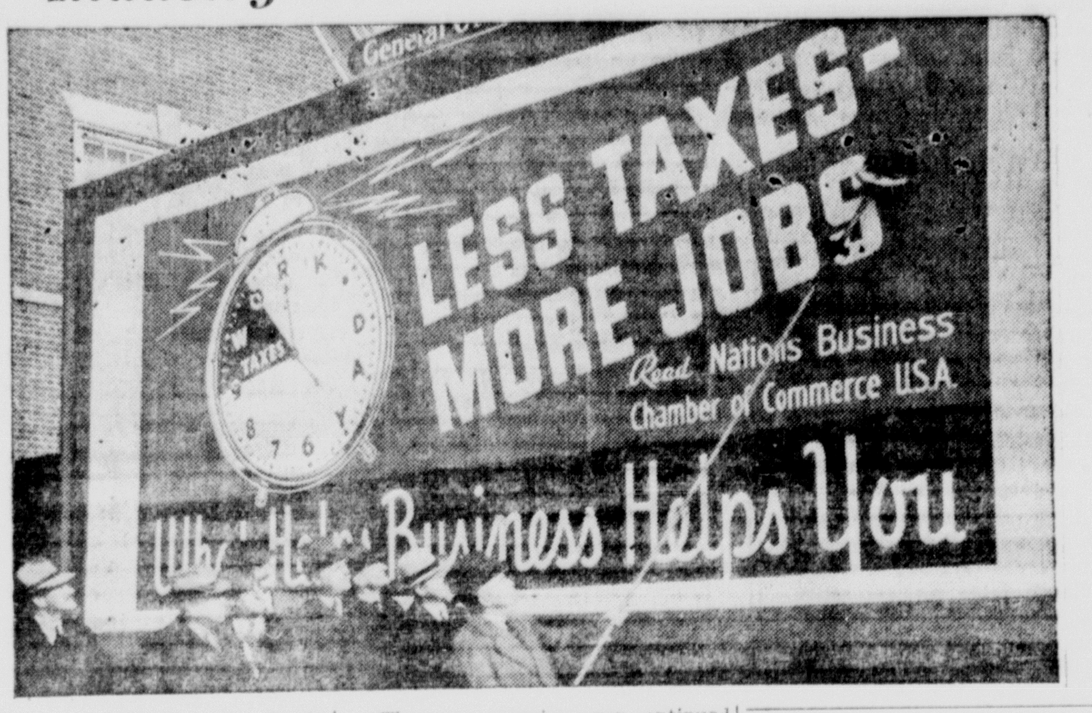
Industry Rebels Under Tax Burden



Washington—George H. Davis, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, has launched a nation-wide outdoor board campaign, "Less Taxes, More Jobs," by pasting up the first poster on the No. 1 board in Washington.

Twenty-five thousand outdoor boards throughout the country will display this slogan.

In announcing the campaign, Mr. Davis said:

"People all over the country are realizing that business is not something to be restricted and abused.

"They are recognizing that both big and little business is what has made America the outstanding nation of the world.

"They are worrying over continued deficits and know that if they are not stopped soon, they will become so huge as to be unmanageable, with the final outcome either inflation or repudiation.

"Capital, labor and management are all ready to go. Reducing taxes is the surest way to restore confidence, making it possible for business to expand and employ the idle.

"Our hope is that the message on these twenty-five thousand billboards, set up all over the United States, will inspire people to encourage their Senators and Congressmen to tackle the unpopular, almost impossible, job of economizing by reducing the cost of government."

Rotary Club

and are often seen along the old trails of the border country, riding with big hats and long rifles.

The Texas Highway Patrol, newest development in a statewide police system came in for generous applause as he told of the development in training these men for work on the highways and how that in the trouble centers of accident fatalities these men had concentrated and in some cases have reduced accidents by more than fifty per cent. During the year 1938 highway deaths and accidents were decreased twenty-five per cent in Texas. Two highway portation facilities crime is staem- and were guests at the luncheon.

Due to the rapid increase in transportation facilities crime in streamlined. Colonel Garrison said that it is a common thing for a criminal to charter an airplane in New York City, fly to Houston, Texas commit a crime and be back in New York within forty-eight hours. In the old days crime was largely localized and those who committed the crime could not get very far but now it is but a matter of a few minutes to cross county lines and within hours state lines. It is therefore necessary that the department equip and train its men to cover wide areas due to the size of Texas and although the department was enlarged under a bill sponsored by the late Senator W. R. Newton and son, Geogre Mayo Newton, it is in need of additional men but unfortunately appropriations are not available at this time for further expansion of the highway patrol.

Under the direct supervision of Colonel Garrnsion in this department are the division of narcotics now becoming one of the more important efforts in the suppression of crime. The Bureau of Identification and the records pursuant to its establishment were said by Colonel Garrison to be second only to that of the department of Justice in Washington, D. C. Through this department modern crime detection becomes a real science and many difficult major crimes have been solved in this department.

The luncheon was the largest attended of any weekly program of the Rotary Club. Members invited a large number of guests for the occasion. Miss Nelta Dierr will be guest sweetheart of the club for several months. Miss Pauline Starnes of the Citizens National Bank was a guest of the club, reporting the speech of Colonel Garrison at his own request.

At the conclusion of the meeting the committee to arrange for the award to the most outstanding high-school student, under the chairmanshrip of Niley Smith, met to complete their plans.

NEWS FROM MILANO

Again death has entered a home and taken a loving wife and daughter, Mrs. S. W. Mullins, formerly Miss Gita Black of Liberty. She died at her home in Dallas on Jan. 24, and her body was brought to Milano and buried in Milano cemetery, on January 25. Her funeral was held in the Baptist Church where a large crowd of sorrowing relatives and friends had gathered to pay the last sad rites to one they loved. Death is sad at all times but for one to pass on as young as she was makes it sad indeed. She was 37 years old. Floral offerings were many and beautiful. Martin from Dallas and Phillips of Rockdale had charge of funeral arrangements.

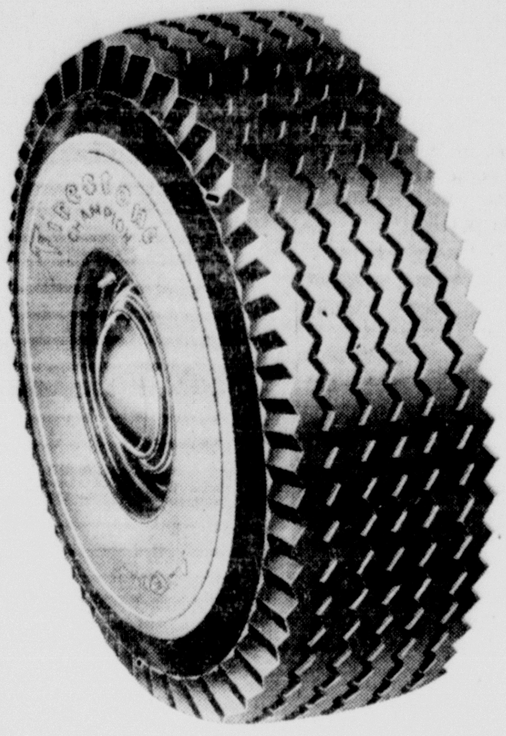
New Firestone Champion Tire



The New Firestone Champion Tire, a product of years of speedway experience and laboratory research. Streamlined and ultra-modern in appearance, this new tire introduces several revolutionary features of design and construction, including a new Gear-Grip tread and a Safety-Lock cord body.

The new tread design provides greater traction efficiency and retains its superior non-skid qualities after many thousands of miles of service. The cotton fibre of the Safety-Lock cord is tightly twisted into a strand of high tensile strength, treated by the patented Firestone Gum-Dipping process, and locked together to form the tire body. This construction affords a new measure of blowout protection. This tire can be seen at Horstmann Bros. Tire Store.

Current Spy Plots Key "Bulldog" Film

One more piece of evidence that Hollywood is as up-to-the-minute as this morning's newsaper is the latest "Bulldog Drummond" adventure picture, "Arrest Bulldog Drummon!" This film, which opens locally next Saturday at the Cameron Theatre, concerns the machinations of international spies, their efforts to capture vital military secrets and the crimes they will commit to gain their ends when more ordinary means fail.

John Howard, playing the suave amateur sleuth for the fifth time, wages a relentless war on a gang of desperate international agents who bring him into action when they steal an amazing new military machine, an electrical "detonator," and murder the inventor, one of the detective's closest friends.

Howard's wild chase of the fleeing criminals chimes right in with today's headlines about the activities of spies and might well have been taken from them. Warned by Scotland Yard officials not to meddle in such an explosive affair, Howard defies all authority and flies after the cruise ship on which the gangsters are making their getaway. He catches up with them for a final showdown against the colorful background of a mysterious tropical port.

Romance, in the person of winsome Heather Angel, goes hand-in-hand with the spy plot of the picture. Left waiting at the church once more when the murder breaks, Miss Angel sails from England on the same cruise ship as the criminals and aids her sweetheart in the final round-up.

The story of 'Arrest Bulldog Drummond!" was penned by H. C. (Sapper) McNeile, one of the country's best-liked mystery writers and author of a long line of "Drummond" tales. Playing lead roles in support of Howard and Miss Angel in the new story are H. B. Warner, E. E. Clive and Reginald Denny.

have supplied around $4,000,00,000.

For the next fiscal year, it is estimated that the President's budget will call for about $2,400,000,000 in new money, out of the estimated debt increase of $3,326,000,000. Cash or fiat, someone will supply it.

On the basis of that projected injection of bank credit and new money into the nation's business and buying power it is hoped by the President that the national income will be boosted on its way upward, that business and private borrowing will increase so as to aid the uptrend and that, with the upswing, the immense idle balances in banks will be put to work by their owners in plant improvements, new things for living, and enjoyment of life. By blowing $2,500,000,000 fiat funds into the balloon, it is hoped that buying power will be generated for the country so as to boost national income by $20,000,000,000 annually in the next two or three years, pushing the national income up to or above $80,000,000,000 annually.

We hope that expectation has better fulfillment than the pious thought of Undersecretary Mills in 1931, that the national debt would be non-existent by 1939.

Dust Storms.

Texas is a beautiful land, a fair land and nature is unusual kind to us and has endowed our state richly. But great calamities come from time to time, as they do to all parts of the earth's surface. And these hard blows from old Mother Nature are sometimes hard to take, but they do bring out human sympathy and kindness in us all.

Among the great calamities that have afflicted parts of our country in years past were the dust storms. I knew what these were like at first-hand, because I traveled through some of the parts of the country hardest hit by them. One Sunday we dedicated a program to the dust storm sufferers.

Recalls Good Old Days.

Today we invite our radio audience to go back with us in fancy to the good old days. In the hustle and bustle of modern day activities we sometimes do not have time to remember the past. So let us do that for a few minutes this afternoon. And here we are inside that old church. Look around and see your friends. Don't try to shake hands with them, because they are here only in fancy. In the good old days you enjoyed their comradeship. But now many of them are gone.

You realize more and more how much those old friends meant to you. Recount in fancy the kindly faces of friends and relatives who used to worship with you in this same old church across the way. I see a friendly face of an old cowhand away back there in the corner. He just sort of sneaked in. He doesn't want to get too far down in front where the "big bugs" are. But I am sure you all recognize him.

And while we are all gathered here in this little church, let us figure out if there is something good we can do, some good deed or somthing we can all hope and pray for together. I wish you all could have been with me this past week. A dust cloud swooped down upon us between Dumas and Dalhart. And did it get dark, and was the dust thick? The dust got so thick that it seemed like we were in a tunnel, or where there should have been one. We could not see the road, nor even the radiator cap on our car. Between gusts, we pulled out to the side of the road and after a while we heard a thump, thump, thump on the top of our car. It kept up until the top broke through and a posthole digger fell into the car.

Cowhand and Posthole.

We got out and found an old cowhand on top of our car. I yelled, "Hey, there! What are you digging a posthole on the top of our car for?" And he said, "Gee whiz, I started digging this hole on our ranch over in Colorado, but the wind came along and picked the farm up. It looks like our farm will be over in Oklahoma by the time I get this row of postholes dug."

Yes, sir, folks, that dust and dirt was thick. We finally drove on to Spearman, and when we opened the door to get out, six gophers jumped out of our car. They had burrowed in through the top while we were in that dust storm.

But even if I have slightly exaggerated this story, the horror of those terrific rust storms cannot be exaggerated. My heart goes out in sympathy to those folks who suffer from them. And some constructive steps must be taken to stop them. I have been through some of these terrific sand and dust storms. I have seen the ranch houses that used to be the homes of happy, thrifty pioneer ranch folks before the plow had wrought havoc with the native sod. If you could now see the houses and barns half buried in drifted dirt, the vegetation all gone, hungry cattle humped up against the black blizzard, crops gone, homes ruined, land ruined, every hope faded, with nothing to look forward to.

Friends, the hand of man on the plow handle and at the tractor throttle has wrought this havoc. And nothing but the hand of God can bring relief. Relief to those in the dust bowl and relief to the rest of us on whom the dust descends, ruining our furniture, our clothes, penetrating homes and hospitals where the sick and dying are, contaminating our food and our lungs, causing sickness, pneumonia and death. So may we reverently, sincerely bow our heads in solemn prayer for relief and suspension of the dust storms.

Damage From Floods.

While one part of our great state may suffer from dust storms, ungovernable floods sometimes tear through the heart of other communities. One such fool was the terrible one which cut into the beautiful city of San Angelo and surrounding territory several years ago. And here let me pause to give credit to the great American Red Cross, whose helping hand is ever ready to succor those in distress. A fine example of the work of the Red Cross was singled out in our radio program devoted to the San Angelo flood:

Let us remember those folks who have lost their homes and everything in the flood district of Texas. Many who have lost homes and suffered damages in their place of business can't stand the loss and are crying about it. But I have in mind the little homes of the poor people, and it's these brother Texans we should help during our trying hour of need.

Many local chapters of the Red Cross are accepting donations for the flood sufferers. Do not wait for them to call you. Write out a check now for all you can spare and send it to your local chapter of the Red Cross.

Guides for Loving.

There are many days throughout the year when our thoughts are turned to honor some famous hero or some special occasion. On our programs we followed these on the calendar with interest and pleasure. Sometimes these programs would honor such a hero as Jefferson Davis, who started out in life as a gangling kid, tall and skinny, but who had a remarkable brain, which he cultivated in school and college. He became a West Point graduate, then went on up the ladder to be Senator, then Secretary of War and finally president of a great confederacy.

Columbus, the discoverer of America, is honored each year by a special day set aside in his memory. And here is what we said on one of the Columbus Day programs:

You know, folks we should all take a valuable lesson from the persistence and determination of Christopher Columbus. If each one of us would make up our minds as definitely as he did to do something and start out and do it as thoroughly as he did, there would be an infinitely greater amount of good accomplished in this world.

You Can Make Discoveries Today.

There are a lot of discoveries to be made. And you don't have to sail the Atlantic to make them. You can discover the happy feeling of getting up and rushing off to school or work in the mornings with a smile on your face. You can discover a lot of good warm friendships now frozen over by the lack of understanding. You can discover the beauty of the flowers if you think of the poor blind boys and girls who have never seen a rose.

You can discover the sweetness of music if you think of those who cannot hear. You can discover the helpfulness of parents if you talk to the orphan. You can discover the wealth of health, if you carefully observe those who are crippled and confined to their beds permanently. And last, but not least, you can discover the happiness and glory, the consolation of faith in God, if you think of those who scoff at Him daily. And so I say we should all learn a lesson from Christopher Columbus, who discovered the land on which was to arise the great nation on the earth.

Woodrow Wilson, Peace Martyr.

Among the great of this earth who have played an immortal part in the history of our Nation is Woodrow Wilson. In memory of that great martyr to a greater America, I said:

Every once in a while there crosses the world's threshold a man who by his words and actions attracts the esteem, the admiration and the praise of millions. We make him our hero. Tonight I am thinking of such a man, although possibly few others are thinking of him, because they may have forgotten that today is the anniversary of the death of Woodrow Wilson.

And tonight as Woodrow Wilson looks down on high upon a war mad world—as he sees dictators here and there planning their conquests, using human beings as mere pawns, building at breakneck speed the implements of war, of death, destruction—what do you suppose he thinks? The spirit of the man who saw the horrors of war and the foolishness or armed conflict sees his pet plan, the League of Nations, neatly pigeonholed. While the war lords ride on, Woodrow Wilon's great plan in forgotten by many.

Yes, my friends, Woodrow Wilson's great plan for peace failed. But what did his opponents give us to take its place, to stop the onward march of more entangling alliances as they engulf Europe and gradually but surely draw closer each month to every nation on earth, no matter how peaceful we are, or how peace-minded our people may be? Woodrow Wilson, serious-minded people on earth tonight are thinking of you. We know your prayers are united with ours to Him on high, to free this world of ugly war.

Mothers Know War's Horrors.

Mothers know what war means in all its frightfulness. Mothers know most of the heartbreaks of this world. And once a year the American people set aside a day in honor of mother. We have dedicated many a program to the mothers of Texas and of America, but one evoked a wider response that this program:

We have received the largest number of letters asking for special dedications on this program than we have ever received for any other program. It is impossible to read them all. We have chosen one letter, however, which should be read above all others. It is from the Howard Home at Waco. They write: "We get up at 4 o'clock in the morning and go out to milk. We get in just in time to hear your schoolday program. We are but a few of a big family of 400 boys and girls. We would appreciate it very much if you would dedicate the song, Tell Mother I'll Be There, to the boys of the Howard Home. We would like this to be on your Mother's Day program Sunday afternoon."

It is our pleasure to do as this letter suggests. It has also been our pleasure to send these songs to all living mothers. You folks who have living mothers should be the happiest people on earth. There are those of us who today wear the white rose. One of my greatest worries as a child was: What will happen to me if mother dies? I thought I simly could not live without her.

But as she passed away quietly as I held her in my arms, there seemed to come a change. She was gone, yet it seemed she was closer than ever to me. And as the years have passed she seems closer to me than ever. Her teachings, the little things she told me always to do, the prayer she taught me to say each night—there is something about mother love that gets closer to us than anything else.

When trouble and temptation come, when perhaps we heed not God, we will often heed His messenger, our mother. And so, we who wear the white rose today are not forlorn. Her passing on is but the sacrificial method of convincing us of the unalterable truth of Christ's teachings, chief among which is that there is a hereafter, and that we shall meet our mothers in the sky.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

Crime, Its Beginning and End, will be the sermon subject Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

Parents, Young People and Recreation, will be the subject for the evening message at 7:30 o'clock.

In the busy everyday life most of us plan and study ways and means for meeting our obligations and then give ourselves diligently to the task. But what of our obligations to God, His plans and purposes in our lives? What about the plans for Sunday? We make our own plans. Some to worship God, others to journey elsewhere and still some others to look after business interests. And thus we plan and spend our time as the days come and go. But what of the sum total when finally weighed in the balances? Some people are so busy with other interests that the worship of God has lost place in their program of life—any kind of excuse for failure in their obligations to the Great Giver of all blessings, is entirely satisfactory to themselves. But many others cherish the privilege of showing forth their love and gratitude to God through worship and daily devotion and thus their privileges and obligations in things spiritual, enter into their daily plans—they plan ahead for Sunday and many of them will be seen at the House of the Lord at both hours of worship. After all, it is a great privilege for each of us to know life in its deepest and best meaning. The public is cordially invited to worship with us at First Methodist Church.

A. J. McCary, Minister.

E. O. Strickler of Ben Arnold was a Cameron visitor Monday.

What Does the Future Hold for The Smaller Towns in Texas?

What must inevitably be the fate of the small towns and communities in Texas?

This question is being asked in literally hundreds of interior places over the state where today "For Rent" signs clutter the windows of numbers of empty business buildings! It is a question of increasingly serious importance, not only to these small towns and communities, but to the state as a whole.

These once busy places of community life, around which has largely grown the progressive development of Texas, are being dried up by the operation of heavy trucks over our highways. Their local business firms and enterprises, the dry goods, hardware, drug and fruit and vegetable stores, retail lumber yards, wholesale grocery houses, bottling plants, feed mills, oil mills, grain elevators and cotton compresses are unable to meet the competition of the larger business centers because of the almost unrestricted and promiscuous use of Texas highways in the delivery of goods by trucks from the larger cities holding the quantity-purchase advantage.

The absorption and manipulation, in varying degree, of the cost of transportation by highway for competitive purposes, if not restricted, will inevitably drive dealers and wholesalers in the smaller towns and communities out of business. They must succumb to the inequality of opportunity with which they are burdened and thus contribute further to our growing economic chaos.

The plea now being made by certain interests to increase the load limit on trucks operating over Texas highways will hasten the end of local enterprises in smaller Texas communities. If under the present statutes harm already has been done the small town merchant and property owner, what then must be the effect of any increase in the allowable truck load limit? Certainly the larger the load limit the greater will be the distance over which goods can be hauled from the larger distributing centers, and the greater will be the harmful effects on dealers and enterprises in the smaller towns!

The burden of taxation borne by the business interests of the smaller towns and communities throughout Texas will, as a natural result, be shifted more and more to the shoulders of the remaining property owners. Those who have invested in homes and business buildings must sacrifice their investments to what some might mistakingly call "the march of progress."

The thousands of families, for so many years dependent upon employment by these business enterprises as a means of livelihood, must be forced to the cities in quest of work, and failing in that add further to our burden of relief and unemployment!

Inroads by long distance truck operations on the traffic of the railroads must necessarily result in the abandonment of more and more railroad mileage, with consequent loss of payrolls and taxes to these communities and an increase of tax burdens to their citizens.

Texas Railroads, who seek no favors and advantages, but who willingly pay their own way to render efficient, dependable and economical transportation service to Texas communities, have felt the ill effects of unfair and subsidized competition in the same way and measure as the small town business men and, in the interest of our mutual preservation, join with them in urging that existing legal truck load limits be not increased!

Transaction Tax Would Be Burden on Consumer

Washington, Jan. 28—A congressional tax expert voiced strong criticism of transaction taxes as a means of raising revenue.

Recognized as an authority and employed by the congress to assist a joint committee of the senate and house which makes a special study of tax legislation, he requested his name not be disclosed.

Says Burden on Consumer

Asked to comment on the transaction tax recently proposed by Texas' new governor, W. Lee O'Daniel, to provide funds for old age pensions, the congressional aide summarized what in his opinion were its faults as follows:

"The consumer bears the burden.

"It tends toward monopoly; it works against the small independent merchant.

"Its collection and enforcement is costly.

"Out-of-state manufacturers would be given an advantage over local manufacturers, except for a degree of protection afforded by the latter by adoption of a 'use tax.' "

Only French Tax as Broad

Only in the "turnover tax" imposed in France is there to be found anything as broad and all-inclusive as the tax proposed by O'Daniel, he added, and likened it to the 2 per cent transaction tax provided in a bill introduced by Townsendites and discussed on the floor of the house in April of 1935.

"Such a tax is called a 'pyramiding" measure," he said, "because each dealer through whose hands a commodity passes piles on to the price he normally would charge the amount of taxes he has been assessed.

Some Add Interest

"The sum is added to the price of the commodity, in addition to the outright 1.6 per cent tax imposed by law, as would be the case in Texas. Some dealers or manufacturers would figure in on the price an additional amount to cover what he estimates to be the cost of handling the tax to cover interest on funds tied up in the mean while.

"Chains or large independent stores with ample resources have an advantage over small merchants because they can eliminate one or more transactions between the manufacture of a commodity and its distribution to the final consumers. For example, a drug chain might manufacture its own hair tonic. There would be only one transaction on a sale in that case which could be taxed.

Says Cost to be 8 Per Cent

"The broader the coverage of a tax, the greater are the administrative costs. It would cost about 8 per cent of the amount collected to take care of this where a transaction tax was concerned.

"Without simultaneous adoption of a 'use tax,' a local manufacturer would be to the distinct disadvantage of a competing manufacturer just across the state line. The state with the tax could not lawfully impose it on interstate commerce.

"However, many states with sales taxes have passed laws imposing levies on the use of commodities on which no sales tax has been payed. The 'use tax' in no case would come to more than would have been collected by the state had the commodity been purchased within its boundaries."

Socialite Talks Ranch Language

Speaks to Cowboys in Their Own Tongue; Assumes Foreman's Job.

SAN FRANCISCO.—Perfection in the use of ranch language and in a manner to make a real rancher sit up has enabled Mrs. Roma Ware, New York, Paris, Pebble Beach and Del Monte socialite, to make a success of a 3,000-acre sheep ranch in Nevada, she admitted in a recent visit here.

Furthermore, Mrs. Ware, formerly Mrs. Henry H. Wehrname of New York, declared she was getting the "kick" of her life out of it.

"It's a hard life," she admitted, "but I love it. And the natives are marvelous. I have the deepest sympathy for these ranchers who gamble year after year with the harsh elements of Nevada. They are real people."

Ranch Talk a Necessity.

But to make a ranch succeed, Mrs. Ware asserted that you have got to learn to talk "ranch talk" and talk it in a manner that will make things hum.

"I'm learning to talk rough enough now to make the ranch go," she admitted. "You know that it's the language that counts.

"I used to be a lady and say, 'Henry, what are you doing?' But now I stand back and shout, 'Henry, what the —— are you doing?'

"Then, too, I am beginning to know the difference between a cow and a steer."

Mrs. Ware bought her ranch just after winning a divorce at Reno.

The ranch is 32 miles from civilization, "if that is what you call Reno," she said, "and is located near Lake Pyramid.

"I couldn't even spell 'alfalfa' when I bought the ranch," Mrs. Ware declared.

"However, I had a San Francisco architect build me a house of pink-tinted canyon rock, the finest house he has ever built, and with a veranda all around it. From there I can watch the boys work in all the corrals. They hate it because I have binoculars and can watch them all the time to see if they work properly. They call me 'old battle ax.'

Is Her Own Foreman.

"I am thinking even of installing a loud-speaker so that I can scare the life out of them by suddenly bellowing to some loafing worker."

Mrs. Ware is her own foreman.

"I couldn't find a competent foreman," she said. "I found I was paying men to learn. So I decided I'd take over the job myself."

Mrs. Ware boasts of the fact that she has a police badge from the Reno police force, a deputy game warden's badge to keep people from shooting sage hens and possesses an amazing collection of gadgets, including spring tooth harrows, tractors, graders and angle dozers.

"I'm a first-rate 'cat skinner,'" she said, "and every time I see a new government road equipment I look it over for a new gadget for my ranch. I grease my own tractor and I planned my own irrigation system.

"There is only one thing left for me to learn, and that is how to roll my own cigarettes."

Violins Oust Pencils in Ontario Kindergartens

LONDON, ONT.—Pupils in seven city kindergartens will learn to handle a violin before they become well acquainted with a lead pencil, it was revealed in the announcement that the London board of education has increased the number of its "quarter-sized" instruments to 33.

The addition of the "baby violins" is part of the program to extend musical activities in the primary schools of London. Mindful that more than 1,800 persons attended the minor recitals given by school children last year the musical department will double the number of recitals, E. W. Quantz, music director, has announced.

Indications are that the number studying in instrumental classes will be increased almost as much as they were last year when 569 students took lessons. This was a 25 per cent increase in the number registered the preceding year.

The board of education owns more than 300 musical instruments and gives courses in vocal music as well. Little children practice their violin lessons on the quarter-sized instruments. Last year courses were given for the kindergartens at Ryerson, Lady Beck and Ealing schools. The names of the schools which will be added to the list this year have not yet been announced.

There are some types of chickens that are bred to lay. So before you buy your baby chicks be sure to buy chicks from eggs produced by blood tested hens, and hens that have a record of performance.

There are four standard breeds of chickens for Texas: The White Leghorns are the best layers. Your hens should have well balanced feed. Grains are low in protein if too much is fed the hens will get too fat, and fat retards egg production. Green feed should be provided, an oat patch or if you have a frame garden it could be used for green feed if you are not using it for any green vegetable for your table use.
